More than $70,000 in cash will be distributed in premiums, stakes and purses at the tenth annual San Joaquin County Fair and Horse Show, to be held in Stockton August 20th to 26th, inclusive. In addition, a very large number of valuable trophies and special prizes will be awarded. The aggregation is probably greater than has ever been distributed at a county fair on the Pacific Coast.

Governor Young's efforts to prevent any increase of insurance rates on grain crops and farm property, resulting from the great number of disastrous fires in valley counties during the season just past, seem likely to be successful, according to word received by Fred Stevenot, director of the department of natural resources, and chairman of the committee in whose hands the matter was placed by Governor Young. Losses in 1928 have been so heavy that the question has been raised whether insurance could be had another year at present rates or at any increase of rates which would not be prohibitive.

A new kind of farm relief—that of relieving the farmer of his money—was claimed to have been discovered a few days ago by the State department of agriculture in alleged practices of an unnamed packing house in Highland, San Bernardino county. The department announced it had discovered that the Highland firm had been checking off four pounds for the "tare" or box weight on each box of oranges it handled, but paying a price slightly above the prevailing market schedule to induce the growers to place their shipments with the house. As most of the boxes weight only about a pound and a quarter, the department's announcement said the packing house gained from two to three pounds on every box handled.

Acreage devoted to the cultivation of Fall lettuce will be slightly less than in 1927, as shown by intentions to plant filed with the California Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. Total plantings of 20,070 acres are anticipated, as compared with actual plantings of 21,850 last season and 19,670 in 1926. Fall carrot plantings are expected to total 2,300 acres, against 2,215 acres in 1927 and only 865 acres in 1926. The smallest onion crop in several years is indicated with prospects of 3,710 acres to be planted, against 4,780 acres in 1927, 6,000 in 1926 and 5,850 in 1925.

Announcing successful use of airplanes by agriculturists in both Nevada and Oregon, the State Department of Agriculture report that the flying machine has now taken its place as a "valuable farm implement." Airplanes are now doing in twenty minutes the work of spraying for control of alfalfa weevil that under the old method of horse or tractor-drawn equipment required two days, said George G. Schwels, University of Nevada entomologist. Costs of spraying, Schweis told California officials, have been reduced by use of the airplane from one dollar an acre or more to sixty cents, including every item of airplane service, spray operators and materials used.

About 50 per cent of the 1,500 rice variety stocks brought to Biggs, Butte county from Japan, Korea, India and other Asiatic countries by Jenkins Jones, head of the United States Government Rice Experiment Station in Biggs, have been thrown away following a year's experimental growth in Butte county. About 700 of the best stocks are still being used by Jones and some are being hybridized for the purpose of developing an early bearing and heavy producing new rice. Jones was sent by the government two year ago to visit the rice-growing countries of Asia and bring back varieties of all rices grown there. He brought about 1,500 different kinds back and they were put in quarantine for one year near Bakersfield.

The growth of cotton has been particularly stimulated by the good weather. California now has 223,000 acres of cotton under cultivation, the largest cotton acreage ever planted in the State and a gain of 71.5 per cent over the 130,000 acres reported in July of last year. The acreage planted in Lower California, Mexico is 160,000, as compared with 110,000 acres last year. No forecast of production will be made until August 1, according to a report of the Wells-Fargo Bank & Union Trust Company of San Francisco.

Golden State
News of Interest to All

Major R. Y. Stuart, newly appointed United States forester, will arrive in California this week to confer with State authorities on conservation matters. Stuart and S. B. Show, U. S. district forester for California and Nevada, are to meet at Sacramento with Fred G. Stevenot, State Director of Natural Resources, and State Forester M. B. Pratt.

The approach of the hunting season is evident from the activity on the rifle and pistol ranges of all Northern California clubs. Deer season in fish and game districts 2, 2½ and 3 open August 1. These districts include the Coast Range counties from the northern boundary of Mendocino county to the southern boundary of Ventura county.

The initiative measure to abolish prize fighting in California qualified last week for a place on the November general election ballot. Petitions received by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan from seven counties swelled the number of initiative signers to 94,539, or 3,010 more than were needed to place the proposition before the voters.

Supplying an important highway link between San Francisco, the peninsula and Alameda county, is the San Francisco Bay Bridge, now under construction across the bay between San Mateo, on the west and Mt. Eden, near Hayward, on the east. The structure, which will cost about $7,500,000, will be 7.1 miles in length, exclusive of approaches, and will be the longest highway bridge in the world. The project is now about 35 per cent complete, and is scheduled to be finished and opened to traffic in June 1929.

Nearly $83,000 in delinquent wages was collected for California workmen during June through the law enforcement activities of the State department of industrial relations. Will J. French, director of the department, told the governor's council a few days ago that 2,624 wage complaints were received and investigated, together with 275 alleged violations of the eight-hour law for women, resulting in 138 criminal prosecutions.

Employment conditions in California this summer are practically the same as they were a year ago, as shown by statistics of the State department of industrial welfare. Representative industrial establishments throughout the State which employed 154,494 workmen in June, 1927, employed 152,828 workers in June, 1928. This represents a decrease of 1.1 per cent. In June, 1927, the weekly payroll was $4,533,609 and in June of this year $4,456,684, a drop of 1.7 per cent. The "average workman" in these industrial establishments found $29.16 in his weekly pay envelope in June this year with $29.34 in June, 1927.

An additional tax of $5 on all California motor car owners, as an insurance fund for dependants of auto traffic victims, is being considered by the State committee on uniform traffic laws, appointed by the 1927 Legislature. This was disclosed a few days ago by Edgar C. Levey, speaker of the Assembly, and chairman of the traffic committee, before the session of the third annual convention of the Municipal Traffic League of California held last week. An additional tax of $5 would create a fund of $10,000,000 annually, to be administered by a State commission or the industrial insurance department, declared Levy.

Physicians, surgeons and scientific and welfare workers of international reputation will participate in the thirtieth annual convention of the American Hospital Association to be held in San Francisco August 6 to 10. Attendance will be drawn from Canada, Australia and Latin America as well as the United States. In conjunction with the hospital association conclave there will be conventions of the Children's Hospital Association, the Hospital Dietetic Council, the American Association of Hospital Social Workers, the American Occupational Therapy Association and other special groups. Arrangements are being made to accommodate more than 5000 delegates.

Arrests and fines for violations of California's fish and game laws practically doubled during the first six months of 1928 as compared with a similar period in 1927. This is shown in a report compiled by Fred G. Stevenot, State director of natural resources. For the past half-year 1,146 hunters and fishermen were apprehended and paid fines aggregating $39,319. In the same period last year, 628 persons ran afoul of the fish and game laws and paid out fines in the total sum of $20,955. Stevenot expressed the opinion that the sharp increase in the number of proven violators did not indicate growing lawlessness among the sportsmen of the State, but rather increasing vigilance on the part of the patrol officers of the fish and game commission.

CONGRESSMAN FREE SHOULD BE RETAINED

Again the opportunity is afforded for the voters of this district to return to Congress one of the most active and outstanding men of that body. Arthur Free, who has meant much to California and the West Coast because of his energetic campaign in our behalf is seeking re-election that he may continue the good work. His senority in the lower house places him in a more influential position each year. For the good of this district and State it behooves the electorate to return him to Congress. Why not do it at the primaries and make a quick, clean job of it?

MASS MEETINGS BY PRUNE ASSOCIATION

To give prune and apricot growers in the Santa Clara valley and neighboring districts an opportunity to become familiar with the new plans and polices of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association five mass meetings have been scheduled in this part of the State by officials of the association. The meetings will follow a highly successful series held in the Napa-Sonoma districts and a series now underway in the Sacramento valley.

The first meeting in the Santa Clara valley will be held at the Cupertino High School Saturday evening. Monday, August 6, a meeting will be held at Hollister. Tuesday evening of that week a meeting will be held at Morgan Hill and Wednesday evening a meeting is scheduled for Gilroy. The last meeting of the series in this valley will be held at the Evergreen school Thursday, August 8.

The new aggressive marketing policies of the association and changes made to increase efficiency are being explained in detail to growers at the meetings.

Officials of the association announce that the meetings are open to the general public and that business men and bankers as well as growers are invited to attend. "We are not conducting a campaign to sign up members but merely a campaign to acquaint the general public with the association's new set-up and plans," says C. D. Cavallaro, president of the organization.

SOLID SOUTH?

The following news item was received this week from a farmer in Virginia, who wrote to his brother here. These brothers have been honest to goodness life long Democrats, who will vote for the Republican nominee for President at the fall election.

This Eastern brother, who has been about in his region somewhat writes that from his observations Democratic Virgina, North Carolina, Tennessee and probably Georgia will vote for Herbert Hoover.

LAD RESCUED BY BOY SCOUT HERO

Edward Merrill, first class scout and apprentice sea scout saved a boy from drowning Sunday afternoon at the gravel pit south of town.

The younster, 10 years old, had come to the pond with his family for a swim. Eager to be first in, he plunged from the spring board into about 20 feet of water and being unable to swim began to struggle and flounder about crying for help.

Scout Eddie Merrill and Warren Lea were some distance away sailing one of their prize yachts. At the cry of help from the boy and the other members of the family, who could not swim, Eddie used his head. He threw off his hat, glasses and shoes and made a long dive coming up near the exhausted lad. With a few well directed strokes he dragged the boy to the bank, thus saving him from certain death.

When questioned about the case he didn't care to talk, but said, "Gee, I couldn't stand there and see the kid drown." He didn't even find out the name of the bather, but received greatful thanks of the family.

STANFORD STADIUM TO BE SCENE OF FORMAL HOOVER NOTIFICATION AUG. 11

An opportunity for thousands of people of the West to participate in the making of a chapter in American history will be provided Saturday afternoon, August 11, when the Hoover notification ceremony is held in the Stanford University stadium.

As far as is known this is the first time that any Presidential nominee has afforded such an opportunity to the public as that which Herbert Hoover has arranged in obtaining the stadium for this purpose. The stadium will have a capacity of approximately 100,000 so that those in charge of the program have felt safe in saying that the accommodations for the event will be practically unlimited.

Batteries of loud speakers are to be provided so that the voices of those taking part in the program will be plainly heard in all parts of the great arena. In addition to this, arrangements have been completed for a nation-wide radio hook-up which will enable an unseen audience extending from coast to coast and estimated at upwards of 30,000,000 to listen in on the program.

Under the blue sky of the Santa Clara valley, backed by the sun-kissed hills of the Coast range, the spectacle promises to offer all of the thrill and color of Game with the added dra... influence that the history-mak... character of the occasion will provide.

Railroads are offering specially reduced rates. The same is true of the stage and steamship lines. In every section of the State delegations are being made up of loyal Californians eager to honor one of their number upon a national political party has conferred its greatest distinction. Many of these delegations will come with banners and decorated cars carrying their messages of good will.

There will be music, stunts and all of the entertainment that precedes a Big Game. But, the ceremony itself will be brief and impressively simple. Goverhor C. C. Young will make the address of welcome introducing Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the notification committee, who in turn in a brief address will advise Herbert Hoover of his nomination as the Presidential standard bearer of the Republican party. In response, Hoover will enunciate the principles of his campaign giving expression to the long awaited message that promises to become the handbook of his party in the great fight to be waged before the November election.

CLEANUP CAMPAIGN NEARING CAMPBELL

In the clean up campaign being conducted in Santa Clara county the Rocco Mazzone place on Hamilton avenue was raided on Monday.

The place was found to be a "wholesale warehouse" and hundreds and hundreds of gallons of wine and some brandy were confiscated. Part of it was emptied in the irrigation ditch and a quantity taken to the court house cellar.

Mazzone pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of liquor and was fined $300 in Justice C. L. Witlen's court.

KIWANIS PROGRAM COMMITTEE BUSY

Horace Gruwell as chairman awarded the grand prize to Hal Morton for the best harmonica orchestra and incidentally secured an unanimous donation to the fund.

Nic Hedegard gave a short talk on his native land, Denmark, that proved interesting and enlightening. It has been suggested that he give more of the same at a later date.

President Merrill appointed as a special committee to work with the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, C. H. Whitman, E. R. Kennedy and E. G. Archibald. Several matters of progress will be taken up by the joint committee.

Francis Harvey Cutting is chairman for next week and Ralph Hyde stated he could draw the crowd.

Railroads Good Showing

Only 91 passengers were killed on the railroad in America last year. One for each 9,-00,-000 people carried, which was a remarkable record. This is a proportion one-third as great as that of 10 years ago, and less than one-sixth as large as the record of 20 years ago. The employees safety record was the best in the railroads' history. What has happened? We might mention that $324,000,000 has been expended by the railroads during the past eight years, in safety devices. This tells some of the story. Before the motor car and the airplane the front pages of the newspapers devoted great space to railroad disasters. Railroads found that this hurt business and so they erected block signals along their lines. Block signals have undoubtedly prevented hundreds and thousands of wrecks. Roadbeds have been improved and made firmer. Rails no longer give way under the heavy pounding of the monster engines. If there is a weakening of the old rails they are replaced with new ones before anything happens. Then engineers are treated more like human beings. Long hours in the cab are no more, and furthermore engineers are subjected to rigid physical tests before they break down completely. All this has reduced railroad accidents to a scant minimum. When trolley lines started operations in the cities and suburban districts they, too, suffered the loss of much life. Trolley accidents, for reasons similiar to those on railroad lines, were frequent occurrences. Thousands of pedestrians were run down by the trolley cars before the companies adopted safety devices, and improved their system of traffic management. And now the thought, in conclusion is, will not auto fatalities be greatly reduced when as much thought and care is applied here. Think what would happen if every curve in the highways of California as dangerous as that at Austin Corners was eliminated, and think again what would happen if all of the railroad crossings were placed either above or under the tracks, and again think what would happen if more arterial stops were ordered on main highways in the country and then if something could be done about careless and wreckless driving we dare say auto accidents, like railroad accidents, would melt away to almost nothing. And this will come. Don't be discouraged. And accidents in the air will be reduced by some thoughtful legislation, which will be needed soon.

Bell Ringers

Soon the bell ringers will be here.

They hop upon the porch regardless of signs, "Bad Dog" and "No Peddlers," and they have everything under the sun to sell. They play upon the sympathy of Madame Housewife and, because they are impolite and sometimes rude, she buys something to get rid of them.

Now that good reports of fruit harvest are going out the peddlers will flock to the valley. They will do their utmost to rid the resident of the city and the rancher of his sheckles, while the legitimate merchant will continue to solicit in his courteous manner your patronage.

It is getting harder and harder for the "bootleg" peddler of toilet articles, vacuum cleaners, magazines, safety razor sharpeners and the like to cut in on the tax-paying merchant's business because the housewife and rancher and business man are learning to say, "NO."

A Stitch in Time

WHETHER or not it is true that eighty per cent of all persons over sixty-five are dependent on relatives or charity for support, the fact remains that destitution among the aged is distressingly common. To what extent this sorry condition can be relieved is largely a question for individual solution. A systematic savings plan, begun in time, will make age free from want and privation. An American Trust Company savings account, earning four per cent interest, compounded semi-annually, is an important step toward financial independence in the declining years.

A CITIZEN'S PRIVILEGE

Primary election will be held August 28. The principal contests will be between the presidential electors for the Republican and Democratic parties. Senators and Congressmen. Although these contests are not local in the strictest sense of the word the outcome may very seriously effect the welfare of every section of the State.

It is therefore important that every citizen assume the responsibility of his citizenship and cast his vote. The Primary election is becoming more and more a deciding factor in elections whereby the leading candidate is practically elected through the elimination of his opponents. Be a factor in your country's affairs.

Golden State
News of Interest to All

Tourists are entering California this summer at the rate of 2,613 a day, according to statistics announced recently by Frank Snook, chief of the State division of motor vehicles. Figures, based on a check made by officers of Snook's division on the six main interstate highways show that 871 cars enter the State daily on the average with three persons to a car.

Forty-one veteran California school teachers, all of whom have taught 30 years or more, have been retired by the state on the full $500 annual pension allowance. Sixteen others who have taught less than the required 30 years for retirement have been relieved of their duties because of illness or other disabilities, and have been pensioned according to the number of years taught.

Five million matches a day by the end of 1929 is to be the output of a $500,000 match factory to be built in San Francisco, according to Thomas Allen Box of Sausalito. The new factory will begin to operate in July, 1929, with an initial production of 2,500,000 matches a day and with about 100 men on its payroll.

Automobile deaths in California show an increase of ninety and motor vehicle accidents a gain of 1,200 for the first six months of this year, as compared with the corresponding months of 1927. Alexander R. Heron, State Director of Finance, so reported last week to Governor Young and his cabinet. During the last six months there have been 879 deaths and 9,500 auto accidents, Heron said, the totals for the first half of 1927 being 789 deaths and 8,300 accidents.

In "Murderers' Row" at Folsom and San Quentin penitentiaries, fifteen men are facing the gallows, the largest number awaiting execution at any one time in recent California prison annals. Warden James B. Holohan has nine slayers on the condemned list at San Quentin, according to a report to Governor Young, and Warden Court Smith has six others at Folsom. The first scheduled to die at San Quentin is Mark Dowell, murderer of a San Francisco police officer. His execution date has been set for August 17. The same date has been named for the hanging of Folsom's six Thanksgiving Day rioters, recently convicted of murdering a fellow convict during the bloody prison mutiny last November.

Either the ranks of California bootleggers are growing tremendously or the law enforcement efficiency of peace officers is decidedly on the increase. Whichever it is, the number of prohibition law arrests for the 1927-28 fiscal year just ended was 4,762, or eight times as great as that for 1923-24. Morrill's reports on prohibition arrests for the last five fiscal years were given as follows: 1923-24, 546; 1924-25, 1,272; 1925-26, 1,707; 1926-27, 2,065; 1927-28, 4,762.

In another effort to find trace of Jack Frost and Gordon Scott, lost during the Dole race in August, 1927, Denham Scott, brother of the navigator, started a few days ago from Honolulu to search the lava wastes of Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii. Scott led a party of four men, among whom was Private Scarborough of the Fifth Infantry, who declares that he saw a flare in the region at the time the flyers might have been there. The searchers carried provisions for two weeks.

Extension of California market information service by means of a radio network, spreading from the state department of agriculture at Sacramento, was announced last week by George H. Hecke, departmental director. The program will include short wave length dot and dash radio service with stations in Los Angeles, El Centro, Brawley, Fresno, Lodi, Salinas, Sebastopol, San Jose and San Francisco.

After All, Life Is What we Try to Make It

To the preacher, life's a sermon,
To the joker, life's a jest,
To the miser, life is money.
To the loafer, life is rest.

To the lawyer, life's a trial,
To the poet, life's a song,
To the doctor, life's a patient,
That needs treatment right along.

To the soldier, life's a battle.
To the teacher, life's a school,
Life's a great thing to a thinker,
But a failure to a fool.

To the man upon the engine,
Life's a long and heavy grade,
It is growing to the farmer,
To the merchant, life's a trade.

Life's a long vacation,
To the man who loves his work,
But a constant effort
To shun duty, to the shirk.

To the faithful, earnest worker,
Life's story, ever new,
Life is what we try to make it,
Friends, what is this life to you?"

Are your Telephone customers
WALKING OUT?

A lone clerk can't serve a number of eager customers all at the same time. Nor can one telephone line.

Customers at the counter often walk out if kept waiting, even though the cause is evident to them. Telephone customers, without this visible evidence, are only too likely to place their orders elsewhere if they are repeatedly discouraged by busy signals.

Complete telephone service in your place of business, including a sufficient number of central office lines, is the best assurance that your telephone customers are not "walking out".

At our business office, specialists will gladly assist you in planning complete service to meet your particular requirements.

LOW RATES MAKE ELECTRIC COOKING ECONOMICAL

1542 electric ranges just installed in our customers' homes

The Electric Range gives beauty, cleanliness and perfect baking to women who love modern methods.

That is the reason why 1542 of our customers installed Electric Ranges in their homes from May 1st to June 23rd.

The Electric Range has white porcelain enamel that makes kitchens attractive. It bakes perfectly. And it does it automatically. The oven heats up to 400 degrees in 9 to 11 minutes —as fast as one can mix biscuits. The open coil cooking elements are now made smaller to fit your pans. Heat that was formerly wasted goes to work. Food cooks faster—less electricity is used.

While you're downtown, stop in and see the new Electric Ranges.

The stability of the price of butter since 1921 as well as its generally favorable exchange value as to retail prices of commodities farmers buy, is pointed out by Director Hecke, of the State department of agriculture. Ever since the general slump of 1920, prices of dairy products have stood at more favorable levels than many other farm products.

The cost of eggs into the warehouses for storage this season has been five or six cents a dozen higher than in 1927. Most of the accumulation of storage stocks has now been accomplished. Hot weather defects make the eggs less suitable for storage. Quality eggs are in good demand, states Henry G. F. Hamann, federal-state marketing specialist in poultry products.

George C. Roeding, nationally known figure in horticultural and agricultural activities and former president of the State agricultural society, last week committed suicide by hanging himself by a rope from a high tension tower three and one-half miles south of Livermore. While an official of the State agricultural society, which body sponsors the annual California State Fair held at Sacramento, Roeding became widely known in all parts of the State. He was appointed a member of the organization by former Governor Hiram W. Johnson on March 13, 1915, and served until October 26, 1922.

California has added further strength to its claim that "if it's agricultural, California has it." "It" in this case is Swiss cheese, G. H. Hecke, State director of agriculture, told the governor's council recently. After several attempts to make Swiss cheese in California had failed, a plant in Siskiyou county has apparently found the right combination. A fine quality of product is being turned out, Hecke said, and will probably pave the way for Swiss cheese making to become a profitable industry in the State, supplying a strong need as in the past all of the Swiss cheese has been imported.

The condition of ranges and pastures in the State deteriorated in the usual seasonal degree because of general dry weather and on July 1 was estimated to be 82 per cent of normal, as compared with 83 per cent on June 1 and a 10-year average on July 1 of 82 per cent, according to the July bulletin published by the Wells-Fargo Bank & Union Trust Company of San Francisco. Tame hay on July 1 was estimated to be 88 per cent of normal, compared with 90 per cent last year and a 10-year acreage of 87 per cent. The condition of cattle and calves on California ranges was reported on July 1 to be 91 per cent of normal as compared with 91 per cent on June 1 and a 5-year average of 93 per cent for this time of year.

Intimating that a special session of the Legislature would be held early in September and definitely stating for the first time that such a session was certain, Governor C. C. Young told newspaper men last week that the State faced a loss of approximately $10,000,000 within the next year if a special session was not held. "There will be a special session of the Legislature held to consider the bank tax and intangible securities problem," the governor said, "if I can be assured that the matter can be settled without controversy."

CALIFORNIA MECCA OF SPORTS IN 1932

....By C. N. P. A. Service

Returns that California will receive from the holding in this State of the world Olympic Games of 1932 will exceed vastly the sum the State may contribute toward the staging of the Games, it is declared by those who have studied the situation carefully. Whereas, it is pointed out, the California Legislature at its last session voted authorization of $1,000,000 as the State's share of the expensess of the 10th Oympiad, many times this amount of money will be left in California by the hundreds of thousands of visitors who will be attracted here by the almost 12 months' of competitions in athletics, sports and the arts.

Added to the great number who will be drawn to California directly by the games themselves, there will be other scores of thousands who will come to attend the numerous national conventions that are being arranged for 1932 in this State. More important national organizations than ever before have convened in any particular section of the United States, will meet in California throughout 1932, as a result of the world Olympiad being held here. It will be by far California's greatest convention year.

Besides the large sums of money that will be expended in the State by the unprecedented throngs of visitors who will tour it from north to south, visiting mountain, seashore, city and small town, there will be a publicity return which, it is asserted, alone will possess a value for all of California far in excess of the total cost of the Games. Correspondents of every great newspaper in the world will be in California that year and will spread far and wide the attractions of the State in Climate and scenery, and its fame for athletic, educational and cultural acrievement.

No other investment, it is declared, could be so fruitful of revenue as the $1,000,000 the State proposes to contribute toward the cost of the Games. No doubt whatever is entertained that the people next November will ratify the action of the Legislature in designating this sum.

The inspection service of the State department of agriculture loses two more of its employees through resignations. K. R. Nutting, oldest man in the service, having started with the State in 1921, leaves to go into the produce business at Salinas. Ralph V. Sharer who has been with the department since 1925 will on September 1, go to Santa Barbara county as horticultural inspector in charge of standardization at Santa Maria. Henry Greene resigned July 15 to accept a position with Argentine Fruit Distributors at Buenos Aires.

Appreciation of the advantage of selling grain on the basis of definite federal grades has resulted in an increase of 32.3 per cent in the number of inspections made by the State department of agriculture during the past year, states L. M. Jeffers, chief of the bureau of field crops.
